Incontinence management

Goal:

Skilled nursing facilities strive toward an environment in which every resident remains continent for as long as possible.

Situation:

Incontinence is common and complex:

Opportunities exist to improve resident outcomes and increase quality of life and care focus related to the management of incontinence. Many residents in skilled nursing facilities have some level of incontinence, which, if not thoroughly managed, may lead to negative outcomes, including unnecessary hospitalizations and heightened regulatory oversight.

Revised CMS regulations:

CMS reviewed and revised the federal guidelines as well as survey guidance for incontinence management a few years ago (F315) and related F-Tags, with a heightened focus right now on:

- Quality measures
- Readmissions to the hospital
- Facility protocols
- Response and implementation of incontinence management

Enhanced facility management:

The CMS interpretive guidance for incontinence management indicates that a skilled nursing facility must ensure that they have updated policies, procedures, processes, education and monitoring activities around an individual's right regarding the management of incontinence. This includes treatment options, risks/benefits, advanced care planning, as well as the person's individual advance directives related to the management of incontinence.

Solution:

Effective incontinence management requires an ongoing facility-wide commitment to preventing incontinence-associated skin breakdown, providing resident comfort, identifying and addressing barriers to continence, and addressing any misconceptions that residents, families and staff may have about incontinence. McKesson has a variety of business tools to help create the right solution for your facility. See pages 6-7 for more details.

Spend evaluation tool and utilization reports

Situation:

Managing incontinence may be 30-40% of your medical supply spend. McKesson understands the pressure you are under to decrease costs and improve efficiency at your facility while continuing to enhance the quality of resident care.

Solution:

Get the insight and knowledge you need with our financial, clinical time and resource benefits.

Financial benefits

- Track supply spending by month, by quarter or by year
- Quickly identify over- or under-utilization of supplies
- Compare and contrast spending per facility by product or category
- See a breakdown of products by category and/or clinical condition

Clinical benefits

- Built-in alerts let you know if patient supply needs aren't being met properly
- Identify problem areas within individual subcategories
- Compare your actual usage to your expected usage based on industry standards and facility protocols

Time and resource benefits

- Access all your reports in one place
- No additional data entry required - retrieve information to assist you in making decisions to effectively manage staff behavior
- Quickly and easily monitor per-patient day costs

Tools:

We will help you evaluate your business performance on an individualized basis – helping you reduce costs and increase efficiencies. We have two tools to help you manage and monitor spend:

Spend evaluation tool

Proactively provides product, sizing and ordering recommendations specific to your residents' needs

Utilization reports

Reviews utilization data and trends, tracks PPD costs and compares your usage and spend against benchmarks specific to your facility

Skin care

McKesson's skin care options will help you take care of your residents' advanced and basic skin care needs. These products will provide a first line of defense to help prevent against skin issues caused by incontinence.

McKesson suggests utilizing a cleanser, moisturizer, barrier cream and antifungal treatment powder to prevent, address, protect and treat skin breakdown and irritations caused by wetness and urine and/or stool.

Sizing guide

In order to help provide resident comfort and maximum absorbency, selecting the right size is important. You can determine the proper size by either using a measuring tape or using the residents' height and weight.

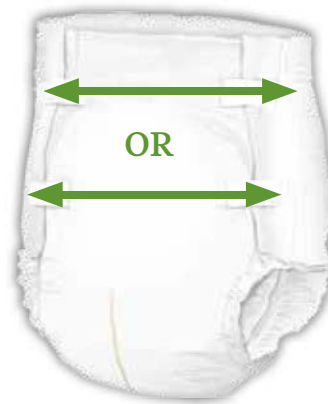

McKesson provides complimentary sizing and application kits that contain:

- Measuring tape color coded by size
- Sizing charts
- Application video and written guide

Using a measuring tape:

- 1 Measure the resident from hip to hip and multiply by 2 and add 2 inches.
- 2 Once you have the total hip measurement, you will want to use the McKesson sizing chart and determine the proper size based on the product you are using.

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Hip bone to hip bone} &= 19" (49 \text{ cm}) \\ 19" \times 2 (49 \text{ cm} \times 2) &= 38" (96.5 \text{ cm}) \\ 38" + 2" (97 \text{ cm} + 5 \text{ cm}) &= 40" (102 \text{ cm}) \\ \hline 40" (102 \text{ cm}) &= \text{Medium or Regular brief} \end{aligned}$$

Contact your McKesson Medical-Surgical Account Manager or the Clinical Resource Team for a complimentary sizing and application kit or for assistance with sizing.

Using the residents' height and weight:

You will need to use the McKesson sizing chart. For example, if the resident is 5'5" and 140 pounds, then you would select a size Medium. See sizing charts on pages 15-16.

Application guide for briefs

After the soiled product has been removed and the skin cleansed, assessed and protected, you are ready to apply the new brief, per facility policy.

Lying down:

- 1 Completely unfold the new brief lengthwise, including the side panels.
- 2 Hold brief at each end and gently pull, activating the leg gathers to create a "cupped" shape for optimal fit and performance.
- 3 Roll resident to one side and spread out the brief, including side panels, underneath resident's buttocks with tape tabs facing the head of the bed.
- 4 Roll the resident back over.
- 5 Pull the front of the product up into the perineal area. Center it front to back, making sure the product is symmetrically positioned on the body.

Standing:

- 1 Completely unfold the new brief lengthwise, including the side panels.
- 2 Hold brief at each end and gently pull, activating the leg gathers to create a "cupped" shape for optimal fit and performance.
- 3 Place the product between the thighs from the front with tape tabs to the rear.

Remaining application steps:

- 1 Spread the front side panels against the hips toward the back of the body.
- 2 Then overlap the rear side panels on top of these toward the front of the body. Use the hook and loop tabs to secure the brief. The tape tabs always go on the front of the body.

The bottom two tabs should be angled slightly upward. The top two tabs should point straight across, or be angled slightly downward.

- 3 Press down on the tabs to secure them to the outside.
- 4 Smooth out all wrinkles and folds and check the fit of the product. Make any adjustments as necessary.

Remember, the closure tabs can be unfastened and fastened again, if needed.

- 5 Gently pull the skin of each inner thigh downward and away from the perineal area. This allows the leg cuffs inside the brief to move into place.

Briefs and underwear sizing chart

Using the sizing chart:

Using the residents' height and weight, you will need to use the McKesson sizing chart. For example, if the resident is 5'5" and 140 pounds, then you would select a size Medium.

Brief/Underwear Sizes	Hip Measurement	Color
Small	25" - 32"
Medium	32" - 44"
Large	44" - 58"
X-Large	58" - 64"
