

Depend® Night Defense® Underwear for Women

Ingredients and Purposes

All ingredients are listed by order of predominance, meaning that the largest concentration of an ingredient is listed at the top and it moves down by amount.

INGREDIENTS	PURPOSE
Polypropylene	A common material in fibers and films. Used to deliver softness, durability, and protection.
Sodium Polyacrylate	A superabsorbent material that pulls in and absorbs fluid for wetness protection.
Wood Pulp	The main component of our tissue and towel products. In our absorbent hygiene products, it helps absorb wetness and store it away.
Polyester	A common fiber found in many fabrics or textiles. We use it in our products to deliver softness and protection.
Polyethylene	A common material used in fibers and films. We use it to deliver softness, breathability, and protection.
Polyurethane elastics	A material with stretch that provides a great fit and helps prevent leakage.
Adhesives	Used to hold different materials together.
Colorants	Pigments and colorants are used to provide the colors and designs seen on our products. The amounts we use per product are very small and are evaluated to ensure they are safe and non-sensitizing.
